Calling All Quilters to the Home of the Classics Quilt Show!

AUBURN, IN— Calling all quilters to the 2nd Home of the Classics Quilt Show in Auburn, Indiana on September 5 & 6, 2009, Labor Day Weekend 2009. If you want to learn more about quilting and organizing your fabric stash, shop, compete with other quilters, or display your quilted items, then plan to attend the Home of the Classics Quilt Show at DeKalb Middle School, north of Auburn IN.

Sponsored by the Spinning Spools Quilt Guild and produced in conjunction with The DeKalb County Visitor's Bureau, the quilt show has something for everyone. There will be a quilting workshop (Boxy Stars), mini seminars on stash organization and use, a general display quilt show, a judged quilt show with awards and prizes, a wide assortment of vendors, and a block party including vendors and food on September 5, 2009, 6:00-9:00 pm with a SCRAPs AND SHIRTTAILS lecture/trunk show/book signing by guest designer, instructor, author, and internet extraordinaire of quiltville.com, Bonnie K. Hunter.
